COP SHOT IN GANGLAND WAR

PISTOL BATTLE FOLLOWS BOMB EXPLOSION IN CHICAGO DIVE

Police Sergeant is Target for Mystery Bullets.

GUNMEN ESCAPE
Two Factions, Bitter
Enemies, Allied
Against Law.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Mystery bullets pouring from a gangster automobile here today evened the toll in the latest Chicago gang war when Police Sergeant Thomas Lynch fell with probably fatal injuries.

Building Wrecked.

The shooting followed by a scant two hours a terrific blast aimed at a resort operated by enemies of the powerful gang chieftain "Scarface Al" Capone.

The building was wrecked.

The squad automobile of Sergeant Anthony Lombardo, notorious gangster, owns saloons, come upon a dark green automobile.

As Lynch approached to question the occupants, machine guns were poked from between side curtains and a rain of fire was leveled at him.

Lynch fell back and clutched at the running board of his squad car. The green car roared ahead and the detective machine followed squirting bullets. The gangster machine outdistanced the Lynch automobile by zig-zagging through alleyways.

Gangster is Slain.

The bombing of the alleged disorderly house-saloon operated by the Barney Bertsche-Billy Skidmore faction followed, too, in the wake of the slaying yesterday of Frank Herbert.

STUDEBAKER

THE GREAT INDEPENDENT

NEW WORLD RECORDS

For Endurance and Speed established by
3 STUDEBAKER COMMANDERS

THE WORLD'S CHAMPION CAR

Nothing made by man in the history of the world has ever traveled so far so fast—25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes

Read the facts below

TO THE PUBLIC:

On October 18th at 2:49 p.m., two strictly stock Studebaker Commander Sport Roadsters, and a strictly stock Commander Sedan, started at the Atlantic City Speedway (one and one-half mile board track) to run continuously for 25,000 miles and thereby, if successful, to establish a new world record for endurance, and also, if possible, to average better than a mile a minute and thus break all existing speed records not already held by Studebaker cars. These were the objectives sought by Studebaker.

This run was sanctioned and supervised by the American Automobile Association, which stationed a squad of 35 men on the job in charge of Val Haresnape, Secretary of the Contest Board of the Association. These men kept all of the records by means of the most accurate electrical time recording instruments and tape which registered every lap (16,667 laps) as each car passed over a wire stretched across the track immediately in front of the judges' stand, which was occupied by four A.A. men at all times—day and night.

In addition, at least two members of the A.A.A. Technical Committee kept an accurate record of all gas, oil and water replenishments, together with parts replacements and work done on the cars.

The sole duty of the Studebaker drivers and pit men was to keep the cars on the track and the average speed above a mile a minute. They had nothing to do with the recording of distance or speed.

The Official Results of the tests as duly certified by the American Automobile Association were as follows:

Both roadsters finished 25,000 miles on November 3rd at 1:37 p.m., which made the total elapsed time 16 days, 22 hours and 48 minutes, or 22,968 minutes, and the average speed 65.31 miles per hour for the entire distance.

The Sedan finished 25,000 miles on November 4th at 10:09 a.m., which made the total elapsed time 16 days, 19 hours and 20 minutes, or 24,200 minutes, and the average speed 63.31 miles per hour for the entire distance.

South Bend, Indiana, November 10th, 1927 speed 61.98 miles per hour for the entire distance.

These are world records for distance covered and average speed. No machine made by man in the history of the world, be it airplane, automobile, steam engine, or ship, has even approached the performance of these Studebaker cars.

An accurate record of all repairs and replacements was kept on the three cars. At Studebaker's retail prices for parts, the total cost of all mechanical repairs and replacements (including labor) on the two Roadsters was $207.88 or 41 hundredths of a cent per mile for the 50,000 miles traveled.

The Sedan turned over during the night of November 2nd with a mileage of 21,390 miles to its credit, while going at the rate of 65 miles per hour. It was necessary to replace radiator, wheels, headlights and front axles, but the car was back on the track again in one hour and fifty-seven minutes and completed the 25,000 miles with an average speed of 61.98 miles per hour.

The repair cost was, of course, made abnormally heavy on the Sedan by this wreck—totaling $408.34 or one and sixty-three hundredths cents per mile.

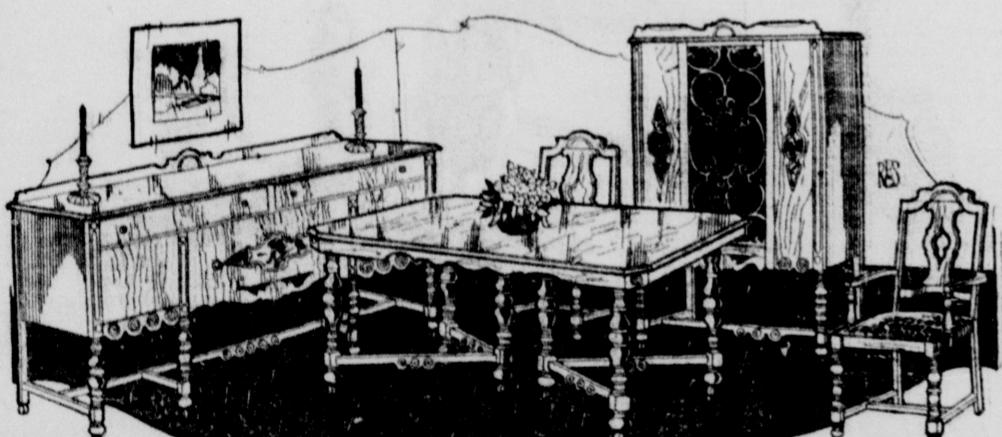

Competitive engineering and proving-ground tests, plus analytical examinations of a hundred cars made during the past year, had convinced the men who make Studebaker cars, that they are superior in performance, endurance, and value to any other cars on the American market today.

Realizing the futility of superlative claims, so prevalent in automobile advertising, Studebaker determined seven months ago to go after all existing performance records held by stock automobiles and to submit the results to the highest American authority, namely the American Automobile Association.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOLE," "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL."

Chapter LXVI.

TEN minutes later, while Sally was in the kitchen filling the tea pot for supper, the sound of an automobile came to her ears above the rush and sigh of the bitter December wind.

"That's Aunt Em, with her turkey and her cranberries," she said to herself and hurried out to the back steps to help her carry her bundles in.

But the backyard was dark and empty under the deepening twilight.

"She must have stopped the car at the front porch," thought Sally, and went back into the house.

The kitchen was brightly lighted, but the front of the silent house was wrapped in the early winter dusk. Sally stumbled against a chair as she crossed the dining room.

Just as she reached the doorway between the dining room and hall, the front door swung softly open. Just for a second a man's figure was outlined against the opening, and then the door closed again without a sound. . . . There was the sound of a footfall.

It was the backyard was dark and empty under the deepening twilight.

It was the backyard was dark and empty under the deepening twilight.

"She must have stopped the car at the front porch," thought Sally, and went back into the house.

The kitchen was brightly lighted, but the front of the silent house was wrapped in the early winter dusk. Sally stumbled against a chair as she crossed the dining room.

Just as she reached the doorway between the dining room and hall, the front door swung softly open. Just for a second a man's figure was outlined against the opening, and then the door closed again without a sound. . . . There was the sound of a footfall.

It was the backyard was dark and empty under the deepening twilight.

COACH JOSEPH E. HURST will put his Blue and White squad through its final paces tonight at City Park, polishing off for the wind-up scuffle of the season tomorrow with Wellsville at Nicholson Field.

The locals, with one or two minor exceptions, are in excellent condition for the battle, and, although realizing that they will be playing a Wellsville eleven whose efficiency will be heightened by the feeling of rivalry that exists, are confident they can end the season with a victory.

The Blue and White's regular line will be started against the Orange tomorrow with Anderson on left end, Clark left tackle, Davidson left guard, Allison center, Pennebaker right guard, Smith right tackle and Witherow right end.

In all probability the local coach will start Mackall, English, Bloor and Kirkland in the backfield, with Skidmore and Laneve ready for duty at any moment. The entire outfit is pretty well balanced and any quartet out of the bunch that includes Kirkham would be acceptable, but the starters are selected for whatever definite purposes Coach Hurst has in mind for the particular job in view.

LAST SCRIMMAGE FOR ARMY TODAY
WEST POINT, Nov. 23.—Its coaching staff strengthened by the appearance on the lines of the famous Elmer Oliphant, the Army was to go through its final scrimmage session today and only light drill will be followed in the succeeding few days before the traditional Army-Navy clash at New York Saturday.

ANNAPOLES, Md., Nov. 23.—"Just polishing off." That was the Navy situation today. The middies romped about the field with only one more practice period intervening before the departure for New York. Like the Army, the Navy varsity was going in for secret drill in its final hours.

Heimies of the American duckpin league took over the Americans for three straight games last night, rolling up substantial margins in each event. Beabout, with a single score of 203, registered in the third match, and a total of 472, pulled down high count for the night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The foreign invasion of the American sock market is reaching alarming proportions.

Jack Humbreck, Belgian heavyweight, steamed into port last week with Tommy Burns, former heavyweight champion, and Pierre Charles, another Belgian heavy, due next week. He will be handled here by Gus Wilson, of the Jack Dempsey forces. Humbreck makes his American debut against Arthur De Kuh next Monday night in Brooklyn. The Belgian trio checked in yes-

Gratitude

Out of the depths of their hearts as well as in keeping with proclamations of the nation's chieftain and Ohio's governor, East Liverpool people tomorrow will observe Thanksgiving day.

Services will be held in five churches—at 8 a. m. in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Fourth street; at 9 a. m. in the St. Aloysius Catholic church, West Fifth street, and St. Ann's church, Pennsylvania avenue, East End, and at 10 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal church, downtown, and Second Presbyterian church, Virginia avenue, East End.

After thanks have been given to Almighty God for our many blessings—and on Thanksgiving Day, if get into the spirit of it, we learn that there is no greater blessing than a sense of gratitude—a diversified program will be offered on the athletic fields and in the theatres.

Gratitude, or thankfulness, is a strange thing, especially in the way it's distributed. It isn't those who have most to be thankful for who are most thankful. Often it seems to work the other way.

The rich seem harassed by their wealth, oppressed by its burdens or in fear of losing it. Speaking in general, it is doubtful whether the rich are any happier than the poor, and they are probably less happy than the moderately well-off.

This curious contradiction is particularly true of material possessions. It is often true, too, of other possessions. How many appreciate families and friends at their true worth, and feel grateful accordingly? How many appreciate their own mental and spiritual gifts?

Yes, we are ungrateful wretches—most of us—and therefore undeserving wretches. For surely he that has a good thing of any sort does not really deserve it unless he feels grateful for having it. And if he does feel so, he is twice blest—blest in the having, and blest in the generous emotion that fills his soul.

There are some rare souls capable of gratitude even for what they haven't got, because they expect to receive it. Such a talent is better than wealth, better than station, one might almost say, better than friends. It brings contentment in the midst of want, and sets free the finest qualities of heart and mind.

Most of us do not need to force ourselves to thankfulness, because we have ample cause for gratitude. "Count your blessings" is a good rule, especially at this time of year. You'll be surprised, how many there are. And with all your counting, you'll surely miss some.

Uncle Sam And Mexico

The suppression of a filibustering scheme in New Orleans, evidently directed against the Calles government, was a timely incident, fortunate for international relations.

There have been various documents published recently in American newspapers, supposed to be more or less incriminating to the Mexican government. They have represented the Calles administration as meddling in Nicaragua, encouraging Bolshevism in Russia and Central America and generally trying to make trouble for the United States. Whether or not these documents are genuine is a matter of dispute. Mexican representatives and many Americans declare them forgeries. Even if they are authentic, it is a question whether that matters now, because the alleged acts are so far in the past, and evidently had so little effect, that they might well be forgotten.

Recently relations between Mexico and the United States have been better than for years. Calles has shown a spirit of co-operation, and our government has responded in like manner. The decision of the Mexican supreme court in the first American petroleum case coming before it, against Mexico and in favor of an American oil company, in itself is reassuring. Our authorities, in doing their part to prevent the hatching of anti-Calles conspiracies on our soil, seem to give equal reassurance to Mexico.

All this is as it should be. It would be unfortunate if anything were allowed to interfere again with the friendly relations developing between the two countries.

The Allies figure that Germany can meet her heavy reparation payments from the money she saves by having no army and navy, but it doesn't occur to them what fine shape they'd be in if they saved in the same way.

Latest fashion news: A Porto Rican in New York shoots and kills his wife because she discards her veil.

Husband-calling contests are coming into fashion, replacing hog-calling classics. But nobody need expect wife-calling contests. It's never any use calling wives.

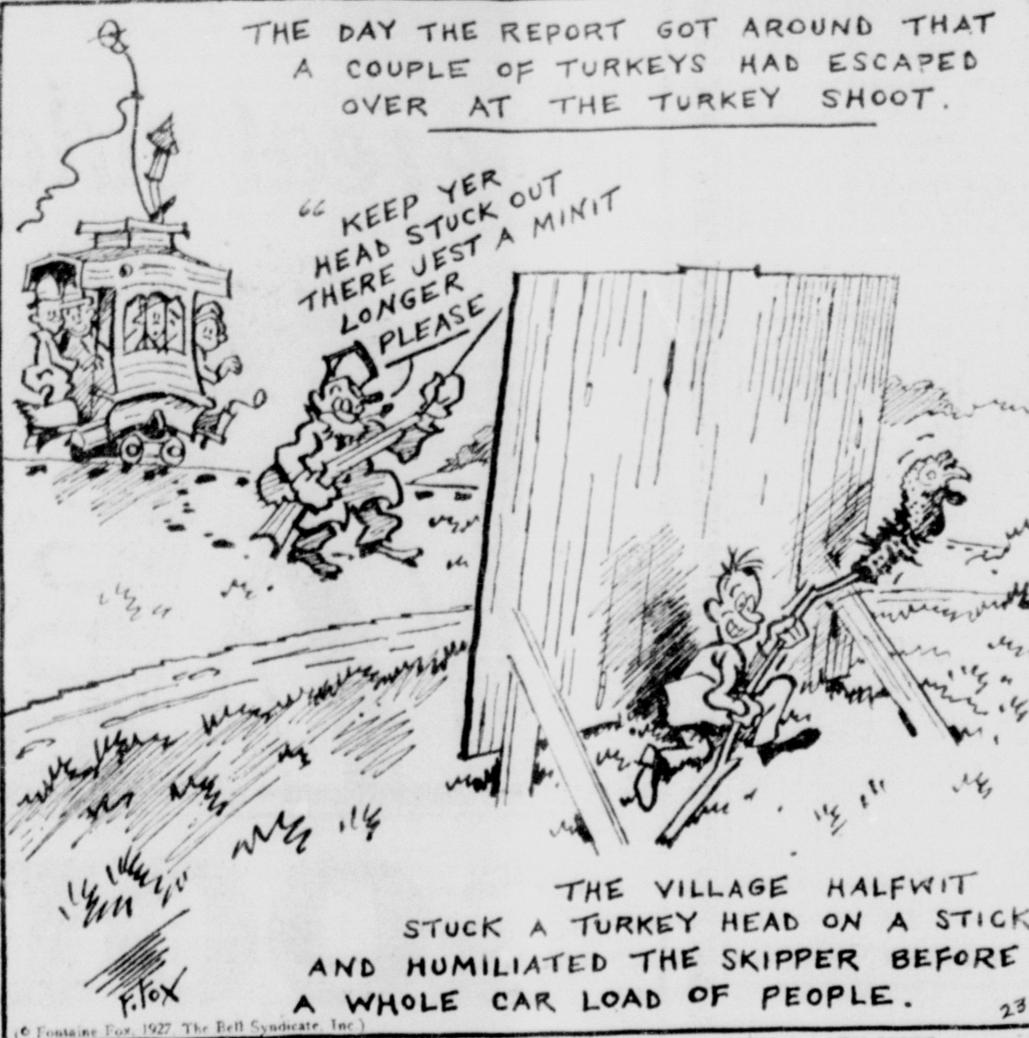

It might not be a bad thing, too, to set up little crosses along the road where dogs, cats and squirrels have been run over.

There is a lamentable lack of ambition among our United States senators. According to Hiram Johnson, only 95 of them want to be president.

Any woman who professes to be anybody in American society nowadays has to go and hunt big game in Africa.

Somebody wants to know why Justice is represented as blind, with a two-edged sword. As far as we can guess, from observing criminal trials, one edge is for the criminal and the other for herself, and she can't see which way she's striking, so it's a toss-up whether she performs an execution or commits hari-kari.

monologist. In smart dining rooms conversation seems in monosyllables. It lacks continuity and spontaneity and is reminiscent of the occasional crackle of dry grass on a parched prairie.

In a cafe last night a pert young girl with black hair coiffed like that of a Dutch doll sat through dinner with her elderly escort and her only words were: "Get the check and let's go." Complete boredom at 20 must be terrible.

At another table sat a young couple whose only interest seemed encompassed in languidly looking out upon the floor of dancers. Once in awhile he would nod and they would drift off into a dance. They appeared leashed by something they did not understand. Or maybe they were married.

On a slightly elevated balcony near by were three gray-haired and bobbed women who puffed at cigarettes, the smoke of which seemed to choke them. A young man who may or may not have been a paid escort sat stiffly gland in the thick silence.

Even at a large oval table where cocktails were plentiful and frosted wine buckets near almost every chair there was a stilted, frigid manner. It has been reasoned the lack of conversation on New York streets was due to multiple noises. That cannot, however, apply to cafes.

Most of us remember when people seemed to filing into public cafes. There was laughter. Also the ripple of spirited conversation. Jokes were told and people often stuffed napkins in their mouths to choke off what might seem ribald roistering.

Of course, this is not applicable to eat and run places or clattery cheap houses of Broadway, where laughter and conversation are still heard. It applies to those places resting in signless magnificence east of Fifth Avenue. They sag in an unexplainable and unwanted heaviness.

Life of John Emerson and Anita Loos now consists in dividing time in London, Paris, New York and Hollywood. They belong to that growing crowd of "flitters" whom you see at a theatrical first night and read in the morning paper of their midnight sailing for Europe. Peru has a definitely outlined program of highway extension which will tap much hitherto undeveloped territory. The Chilean highway system is being extended, and, in fact, every country of Pacific Latin America is included in its 1927 budget a substantial sum for highway construction, and it is said that it may be safely assumed that such developments will continue on an even larger scale in the future.

Better Ports Provided.

Growth of the commerce of Pacific Latin America has called for better port facilities and it is stated that noteworthy port improvements have been made all along the coast from Lower California to Cape Horn. In some instances, ports that were improved four or five years ago are already finding it necessary to enlarge their piers and increase their accommodations.

Public sanitation projects completed and in process, also are filling a long-felt need in many of the cities. San Salvador, with its modern sewer system and Guayaquil, once known as the pest hole of the South American west coast but now comparatively free from yellow fever and kindred tropical diseases, are two examples of the progress of southern cities along this line. Santiago, Valparaiso, Lima, and many others are modern in nearly all respects.

Still another factor in the growing prosperity of this region is the development of irrigation projects, which mean increased national productivity and also offer opportunities for the investment of American capital. Great irrigation works have been under way in northern Mexico for some time. Peru, whose entire irrigation program is under the direction of an American engineer, has recently opened up one new irrigated section and has two other mammoth projects under construction that will greatly enlarge her cultivated area. Chile is a splendid field for irrigation development and is at present endeavoring to find a way to finance a project for her northern section.

Now are these countries without a record of industrial expansion. Textile manufactures have been extended rapidly throughout the whole area and have become firmly established in Mexico, Ecuador, and Peru, especially in cotton goods. Mexico and Chile are manufacturing shoes on a considerable scale, and it is said that Chilean shoes are actually competing with products of the United States and Europe in neighboring South American countries. Fruit canning also has been made a leading Chilean industry.

This industrial development is not so good from the standpoint of American manufacturers of the produce produced locally, but on the whole our commerce is benefited by an extended market for machinery and by the increased buying power of the workers in the new industries.

"All in all," Dr. Julius Klein told the Foreign Trade Club of Los Angeles, "Pacific Latin America, which is standing on the threshold of a new era of economic expansion, presents a field of unlimited possibilities for the American exporter and inventor."

The Pilgrims Came

THE Pilgrims came across the sea,
And never thought of you and me;
And yet it's very strange the way
We think of them Thanksgiving Day.

We tell their story old and true
Of how they sailed across the blue,
And found a new land to be free
And journeyed many a day and night.

Every child knows well the tale
Of how they bravely turned the sail,
And built their homes quite near the sea.
To worship God as they thought right.

The people think that they were sad,
And grave; I'm sure that they were glad—
They made Thanksgiving Day—that's fun
—We thank the Pilgrims, every one!

MISS GRACE KATHRYN BONER BECOMES BRIDE OF JOSEPH GERACE

Ceremony is solemnized in St. Aloysius Church by Rev. Thomas E. Walsh.

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at 8 o'clock in St. Aloysius Catholic church, when Miss Grace Kathryn Boner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boner of Washington street, Newell, became the bride of Joseph Michael Gerace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gerace of West Sixth street. Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, pastor, performed the ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Inez Boner, sister of the bride, who was gowned in pink georgette, with hat to match, and carried pink roses, and Vincent Gerace, a cousin of the bride.

The bride wore white bride's satin. Her veil of tulle was caught in place with orange blossoms, and her shower bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Previous to her marriage she was employed by the Homer Laughlin China company in Newell.

Following the ceremony a bridal breakfast was served at the home of Midol is not a narcotic. It does not interfere with the natural and necessary process of menstruation. But it stops the pain. It eases the organs affected in five to seven minutes. Women's work, too, comes mostly in the morning

Does your breakfast sustain you as it should?

According to recent investigations made by the big women's magazines, 70% or more of the hardest household activities take place in the four morning hours.

No wonder so many women are tired out by lunchtime; too tired to enjoy the leisurely later hours of the day!

Much of this fatigue could be prevented, authorities say, by breakfasts that "stand by you." After a long night's fast, we must have sustaining food to carry us through these strenuous hours.

To make their morning vitality last longer, thousands of women have taken to a breakfast of Quick Mother's Oats.

This rich, sustaining food is a real help towards better mornings—because it is such excellently balanced nourishment. It provides not only energy and tissue-building materials—but minerals and vitamins essential to health, and tender bran, so valuable for roughage.

If you have never tasted Quick Mother's Oats, you will notice at once its unusual fineness of flavor. As delicate as tender nutmeats! Careful milling of a selected kind of oats brings about this difference.

Quick Mother's Oats, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes has this same goodness; your grocer has Quick Mother's Oats as well as the regular kind for those who prefer it.

Featherweight White CAKE

A Tested Recipe

Crisco White Icing

|---------------------------|----------------------|
| 3/4 cup Crisco | 3 egg whites |
| 1 cup sugar | 2 1/2 cup milk |
| 2 cups flour | 1/2 teaspoon vanilla |
| 2 teaspoons baking powder | 3/4 teaspoon salt |

Cream Crisco with sugar. Stir in alternately milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly stiff beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and turn batter into two greased layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

Ice with coconut or maple icing, or Crisco white icing.

Crisco White Icing

|-----------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 2 cups confectioners' sugar | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 2 tablespoons Crisco | 1 teaspoon almond or lemon extract |
| 3 tablespoons milk | 1 teaspoon vanilla |

Cream Crisco with egg and salt. Add milk and rest of sugar and flavoring. Mix well.

Crisco gives me delicious cakes that you simply cannot tell from butter cakes—light and tender, with a fine, even texture. But Crisco is by no means limited to cake making. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flakier pie crusts, fluffier biscuits, dainty desserts and for all frying.

To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

Have You Acid Scalp?

If your hair won't keep the simplest wave for several days, there is probably too much acidity. A condition that causes hair to be stubbornly straight and stringy, and to lack all lustre. Acid scalp.

From the hour you check this excessive acidity your hair will act and appear very different. It will arrange easily in any style that becomes, for it will have lovely softness, and all the sheen all healthy hair normally has. Danderine will neutralize the acid, and actually dissolve every particle of dandruff scale. Your hair won't need anything else to keep it fresh, wholesome, and free from the least objectionable taint that is often noticed in otherwise fastidious women.

Danderine sells for only thirty-five cents at any drug store, and as only a few drops on comb or towel will do the work, a bottle lasts for weeks!

Hodge Heads Clever Cast In New Comedy

"Straight Thru the Door" Comes to Ceramic Theatre Wednesday, Nov. 30.

William Hodge, who has been delighting theatregoers throughout the country ever since the days of "Sag Harbor," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "The Man from Home," will find a hearty welcome from his countless admirers in his new mystery comedy, "Straight Thru the Door," when he comes to the Ceramic theatre Wednesday, Nov. 30.

The stellar role of Gene Thomas affords Mr. Hodge every opportunity to display his distinctive talents and drill individuality to advantage. His part is that of a well-known actor who is trying to complete a home for himself and family during his vacation. The turmoil of carpenters, painters and plumbers in action, the disorder of a house littered with tools and materials, the wranglings with builder and architect, the threats of a boshie mason, and the disturbance to domestic harmony resulting from the blandishments of an amorous lady interior decorator—these are a few factors that make Gene Thomas' summer vacation anything but a blissful one. And moreover, a mysterious murder and a pair of bungling minors of the law not only bring further discomfiture to Thomas but provide suspense, excitement and laughter.

TURNER ASKED TO PASS UPON LENGEL FIGHT

Prosecutor Harter Seeks Ruling on Move to Canton.

NEW TRIAL ANGLE

Defense Demands That Entry be Sent to Warden.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner this afternoon had under consideration the request of Prosecuting Attorney Henry W. Harter, Jr., Canton, for a ruling as to whether the Stark county clerk of courts is required, by law, to forward to Warden P. E. Thomas at Ohio penitentiary a certified copy of the journal entry of the Stark county appellate court's recent decree reversing the judgment of the common pleas court which sentenced former Chief of Police Seranus Lengel, Canton, to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Finding Lengel guilty of first degree murder for alleged participation in the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher, the jury recommended mercy.

Counsel for Lengel insisted the certified copy should be sent to Warden Thomas immediately so as to permit return of Lengel to Canton pending preparation of plans for a new trial, as ordered by the appellate court.

Informing Turner, in a letter, that "the state has reserved exceptions to the judgment of the court of appeals, and proposes to speedily file motion for leave to file its petition in error in the Ohio supreme court, Prosecutor Harter, admitted that, if the certified copy of the entry is forwarded to the warden, "he (the warden) must at once return" Lengel to the Stark county jail.

Declaring that it will be discretion ary with the supreme court, after the appeal is filed, as to whether Lengel shall remain in the penitentiary, Harter contended that "the certified copy need not be forwarded by the clerk until it has been finally determined that the defendant is entitled to a new trial."

SCHOOL TRUANT HELD BY COURT

Municipal Judge Hanley today dismissed charges against Archie Vess, Harker avenue, East End, who was brought into court upon information of school attendance officials, charged with failing to send his 13-year-old son, Charles, to school.

Vess testified that the boy was incorrigible and that he had no control over him. Judge Hanley ordered that the lad be given into the custody of Probation Officer John McShane, who will take steps to have him made a ward of the juvenile court.

J. Charles Knowles forfeited a $106.80 bond when he failed to appear before Judge Hanley to answer a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Knowles was arrested in Jackson street at 12:25 o'clock this morning after his automobile is alleged to have crashed into another car, driven by two tourists.

TIGHT-LIPPED CHAUFFEUR, "HOSTILE" WITNESS, IS RECALLED IN GEORGE REMUS MURDER TRIAL

By James L. Kilgallen.

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 23.—George Klug, surly, sharp featured chauffeur for George Remus, who is on trial for the murder of his wife, Imogene, declared from the witness stand today that he had been "intimidated" by the prosecutor's office. He said that when he did not answer questions as the prosecutor wanted them answered, he was put in jail for two days and nights and held as a material witness, under $10,000 bail.

Judge Chester R. Shook, after hearing Klug's story ruled that there was "no coercion" or intimidating by the prosecutor's office.

Klug denied he knew who was present at a conference in rooms 327 and 329 about 7 p.m., the evening before the murder. He called at the rooms, he testified but saw only Remus.

The state sought to bring out that those at the "conspiracy conference" were Remus, his private secretary, Blanche Watson, his close business associate, George Connors, and Klug. "I saw Connors that night," Klug admitted, "but I don't know whether I saw him in the hotel lobby or at his home." The defense indicated it would seek to establish that those actually at the conference were Mr. and Mrs. August Bruck, of Covington, Ky., and Jack Shevin of Cincinnati and that they were there on business.

Ruth Remus is expected to take the witness stand late today.

She will be the last witness for the state in the trial of her step father.

The appearance of the pretty dark-eyed Ruth will be one of the dramatic moments of the trial. She was an eyewitness of the tragedy, having been with her mother in the taxicab when Remus blocked it with his car, pulled her mother from it, and shot her down as she cried "Oh, daddy, don't hurt me." Since that tragic event Ruth has been in seclusion at the Alms hotel except for one brief visit to the court room. On that occasion she averted her eyes when her gaze met that of her father.

Prosecutor Charles P. Taft, son of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, indicated that the state would close its case at the conclusion of Ruth's testimony late this afternoon or on Friday. There will be no session of court tomorrow, Thanksgiving day.

Taft said he would not put Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., on the stand except as a rebuttal witness. Dodge, former "ace" of the department of justice prohibition enforcement staff, is the man whom Remus accuses of having stolen the affections of his wife while he was serving a term in Atlanta for violation of the eighteenth amendment and who conspired with Mrs. Remus to strip him of his fortune.

CAPTAIN GILES AGAIN QUILTS OCEAN FLIGHT

British Airman at San Simeon, Cal., Today.

HOPS 500 MILES
Plane Turns Upside Down on Jump for Hawaii.

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Nov. 23.—Captain Frederick A. Giles, British war ace, who attempted flight to Hawaii ended on the California coast near here late yesterday, left for San Francisco today by motor. He said he planned to return later and fly his plane to San Francisco after it is reported in hopes of making another start.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 23.—Captain Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, who started on a flight to Hawaii from San Francisco yesterday, today was at San Simeon, Cal.

Approximately eight hours after he took off in his Hess Bluebird biplane, Giles brought his machine to earth 275 miles north of here.

Giles estimated he was about 500 miles at sea when his machine went into a spin. His plane, he said, turned upside down and his supplies and navigating instruments fell into the sea.

The British aviator said he gained control of his machine only after a desperate effort. With his supplies and instruments gone, there was nothing left for him to do but to strike out for the mainland.

Guessing his directions, Giles headed his machine eastward and made a perfect landing on the Hearst ranch.

Undismayed by the mishap, Giles said he would again try the flight to Hawaii, the first lap of a proposed air journey to New Zealand.

"I am going to repair the ship and fly here back to San Francisco," he said. "And then as soon as the moon is full, and I can get new charts, I'll be off again."

Giles declared he never expected to reach land after his machine went into a spin.

FRENCH LEGION FREES AMERICAN

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Minister of War Painlevé today telegraphed an order to the commanding officer of the French Foreign Legion at Sidi-Bel-Abbes, Algeria, to release Bennett J. Doty, an American, from further duty at once.

Doty, whose home is in Memphis, Tenn., enlisted in the Foreign Legion in 1925 under the name of Gilbert Clare. He deserted in May, 1926, while his regiment was stationed in southern Syria after serving 11 months. He was sentenced to death. Later the sentence was commuted to eight years in prison. The French government pardoned Doty in September of this year after he had spent 13 months in prison.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

THAT is looking farther ahead than young people generally care to think. Life, marriage and other things may not be perfect, but the young think, hope and believe that they are. And THINKING, HOPING and BELEIVING gradually build up what is worth while in life.

THE big Dupont company went on a $10 dividend basis yesterday. Stockholders got their regular dividends on the $10 basis, amounting to $6,654,045, and as an extra, $113,121,416 dividend on General Motors stock owned by DuPont.

THIS emphasizes the dominating position of General Motors company in the automobile world.

One hundred and fifty-three automobile manufacturers produced in October 221,292 cars. Of these General Motors sold 150,832, almost 70 per cent of the total output.

SOON will appear the new Ford car, and then will come automobile production on a greater scale. Mr. Bernstein, who recently settled a law suit with Henry Ford, has had a long talk with Ford and saw the new car. He described it as a "small Lincoln."

THESE are various ways of dealing with a jury in our democracy. High finance hires private detectives to trail each juror and report which one is "open to reason" or interested in an "automobile as long as a city block."

IN Chicago, the simpler way is to warn the jury that convicting an accused man, important in underworld crime, means a bomb thrown in your window or a blackjack on your head.

Eight witnesses testified that they saw a certain individual kill a junkman who had refused to obey gang orders. One juror wanted to convict, but voted for acquittal when the eleven others warned him that to do so was to endanger his life and his family. The accused gangster having shown justice "where it got off," walked out of prison, "free and vindicated."

WILLIAM C. HOVERTER, just elected city treasurer of Reading, Pa., faced criticism by any "regular" politician. His job is worth $20,000 a year, and he accepts only $6,000, saying: "America has many things to be thankful for at this season of the year," he said. "Ten years ago we were in the midst of a great war; today we are at peace with all nations of the world."

Other speakers included Attorney W. B. Hill, Prof. H. F. Laughlin, R. C. Heddelston and John Golden.

KIWANIS CLUB GOES TO HOTEL

Final Luncheon Held Today in Larkins' Annex

Members of the Kiwanis club held their final luncheon meeting in the Larkins' annex, Market street, today. The club will meet in the basement dining hall of the Travelers' hotel, East Fourth street, starting next Thursday.

In the absence of Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, Past President Olen H. Dawson presided. Past presidents of the club including, W. A. Weaver, W. B. Hill, T. V. Milligan, O. H. Dawson, Dr. G. E. Lewis, and C. C. Cline, were named members of the nominating committee which will select candidates for club officers next year.

H. B. Keys made a report of the inter-city meeting held at Salem last Thursday night at which delegations of the Salineville and Wellsville clubs were guests.

The investigation will inquire as to whether the mine guard was justified in the use of firearms. Spokesmen for the I. W. W. declared the strikers were unarmed and were "shot down like dogs."

Rev. B. R. Johnson spoke briefly on "The Spirit of Thanksgiving." "America has many things to be thankful for at this season of the year," he said. "Ten years ago we were in the midst of a great war; today we are at peace with all nations of the world."

Other speakers included Attorney W. B. Hill, Prof. H. F. Laughlin, R. C. Heddelston and John Golden.

KLAN PROPERTY AWARD UPHELD

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Overruling an appeal, the Ohio supreme court today upheld the decree of the Summit county appellate court which awarded property of the Summit county Ku Klux Klan local, No. 27, to members of the local.

The property included: $11,700 in stock of the Summit County Auditorium company; $22,150 in promissory notes of the Auditorium company; a $6,250 certificate of deposit; office furniture and fixtures, and more than $200 in cash.

The local, on Sept. 18, 1926, decided to surrender its charter and to transfer its properties to the Protestant Service League, a charitable corporation, organized by members of the Klan local.

The suit seeks to compel payment to approximately 5,000 stockholders of the Goodyear company, dividends on preferred stock accrued in the past five years, and requests the court to restrain the Goodyear company from issuing any shares of capital stock prior to dividends to the original stock, which the petition states, the directors sought to invalidate last August when they authorized issuance of $60,000,000 in 5 per cent fold mortgage bonds and $100,000,000 first preferred stock.

Bandits Shot Toledo Policeman.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 23.—Police Sergeant Ed Dusing was in Mercy hospital today recovering from a bullet wound. He was shot in the left leg during a gun battle with two bandits in Ottawa park Tuesday night.

Cop Shot in "War"

gangster Lieutenant of "Polack Joe" Salsis and his chiefs.

The series of gangster outbreaks were believed to have been precipitated by a command issued by Chief of Police Michael Hughes to shoot all gangsters upon sight.

"A war to the finish" was the decree.

Three high gangsters are in cells. One is dead, a policeman shot, another gangster freed, detective bureau squad cars searching the underworld haunts of all desperate criminals, two powerful gangster factions allied against police but vowing death at the same time to each other—this is the picture in Chicago today.

Blast is Warning.

Special detectives assigned to the task of preventing a renewal of the deadly machine gun fires, believe the resort was blown up as a warning to the Bertsche faction not to poach on gambling and vice territory south of Madison street.

It was said that the last "peace treaty" agreed to by gang leaders, parceled off sections of the city allotted each faction a section in which to conduct "business" without interference from other factions. Madison street was said to be the dividing line north and south.

Fifteen inmates fled.

Authorities charge gunmen in the employ of "Scarface Al" Capone, South Side "vice regent," were responsible for the blast.

"Capone wants the Bertsche faction to know they must not cross the Madison street line," said one investigator.

Fifteen girls, said to be inmates in the wrecked building, fled in panic. None was seriously injured.

Lieutenant John Ryan, touring the near West Side soon after the blast, arrested three men "on suspicion." They were Italians, known to be friends of Scarface Al Capone.

Rules on Appellate Judges' Pay

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—All appellate court judges in Ohio, Attorney General Edward C. Turner today ruled, are entitled to compensation at the rate of $20 per day each while carrying out assignments of the chief justice of the Ohio supreme court to dispense of legal business in appellate districts other than the in which the judge was elected, or appointed.

Ruth Remus is expected to take the witness stand late today.

She will be the last witness for the state in the trial of her step father.

The appearance of the pretty dark-eyed Ruth will be one of the dramatic moments of the trial. She was an eyewitness of the tragedy, having been with her mother in the taxicab when Remus blocked it with his car, pulled her mother from it, and shot her down as she cried "Oh, daddy, don't hurt me." Since that tragic event Ruth has been in seclusion at the Alms hotel except for one brief visit to the court room. On that occasion she averted her eyes when her gaze met that of her father.

Prosecutor Charles P. Taft, son of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, indicated that the state would close its case at the conclusion of Ruth's testimony late this afternoon or on Friday. There will be no session of court tomorrow, Thanksgiving day.

Taft said he would not put Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., on the stand except as a rebuttal witness. Dodge, former "ace" of the department of justice prohibition enforcement staff, is the man whom Remus accuses of having stolen the affections of his wife while he was serving a term in Atlanta for violation of the eighteenth amendment and who conspired with Mrs. Remus to strip him of his fortune.

HUGHES RULES IN LAKE FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Charles E. Hughes, acting as special master for the United States supreme court, today recommended that the city of Chicago and the state of Illinois be restrained from unrestricted diversion of water from Lake Michigan, but he also recommended that they be permitted to continue to withdraw water under permit from the war department.

The special master's report at the same time recommended that if the defendant (Chicago and Illinois) should seek to create or continue a withdrawal of water without the sanction of congress, the complaining states, including Wisconsin and Michigan should be entitled to bring a suit to enjoin such action.

"I therefore recommend," said Hughes, "that the bill be dismissed without prejudice to the right of the complainants to institute suit to prevent a diversion of water from Lake Michigan in case such diversion is made or attempted without authority of law."

Seven East Liverpool Lads Jailed Here.

Seven East Liverpool youths, arrested early this morning near Nicholson Field, Eighteenth street, the scene of the Thanksgiving grid battle between East Liverpool and Wellsville high schools, spent several hours in jail here.

The septet, nabbed by Patrolmen Pugh and Hanlon on a charge of suspicion, included, according to police, Robert Kinney, William Pusey, George Peteres, Carl Householder, Earl Watson, John Briezelin and Duane Kilmer.

When arrested, the boys, according to authorities, had a bucket of paint and a couple of swabs, in the machine in which they were riding.

At the request of Wellsville school authorities, police had been assigned to guard the ball park and the school property during the night and, according to Mayor W. L. Fogo, the police will be on the job again tonight.

Mayor Fogo, lecturing the youths this morning prior to their release, declared that if others were apprehended tonight, they would not see the football game tomorrow, and expressed the wish that if East Liverpool authorities arrest Wellsville pranksters there, they do the same thing.

Declaring himself an ardent follower of sports and a booster for the game, the mayor decried undue celebrations that might possibly lead to the damaging of property.

REVUE HEADS CERAMIC BILL

"Syncopations of 1927" and Conklin Picture Here.

Omer Herbert's revue, "Syncopations of 1927," a delightful offering of instrumental music, singing and dancing by a company of versatile performers, will be featured with the Paramount screen production, "Tell It to Sweeney," starring Chester Conklin and George Bancroft, at the Ceramic theatre tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Among the instruments used in the revue, in which pretty girls predominate, are saxophone, banjos, guitar and piano. One of the young ladies dances while playing the saxophone. There will be a special Black Bottom number which is said to be one of the features of the entertainment.

Beauty as well as comedy adorn the railroad story, "Tell It To Sweeney." Conklin and Bancroft make their debut as a Paramount comedy team in this highly enlivening vehicle. Doris Hill has the leading feminine role, while the handsome Jack Luden, who is one of Paramount's new western stars, is the clever juvenile.

Doris and Jack carry the romantic theme, while Conklin and Bancroft supply the comedy, of which there is no end. Kerry Clark and Percy Heath wrote the original story and Gregory La Cava directed.

JURIES TO HEAR DAMAGE CASES

Jefferson Countians to Act in Lisbon Court.

Two juries from Jefferson county will hear damage suits at Lisbon next week in which the board of county commissioners are defendants.

J. W. Griffith, who resides on the Valley-Damascus road in Butler township is seeking $338.85 damages alleged to have been done to his farm during the cloudburst, which swept eastern Ohio on the night of June 28, 1924. Griffith charges that the culvert for a bridge in a road near his farm was too small to accommodate the water and that his six-acre tract was inundated for several hours.

J. H. and John Fryfogle, near North Georgetown, seeking $2,500 damages from the commissioners for an accident which occurred in the Beloit-North Georgetown road on August 15, 1925. The two men were driving a tractor and threshing outfit when the machine slipped over an embankment, the equipment being wrecked. It is said in the petition that the road was but eight feet wide whereas it is charged, it should have been 18 feet.

Metzger, McCarthy and McCormick, Salem lawyers, represent Griffith, while the Fryfogle brothers have retained Attorney Walter W. Beck, Lisbon. Judge Jones granted the application of the two plaintiffs for juries from other counties to hear the cases.

Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diapepsin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

AN OLD RECIPE
TO DARKEN HAIR*Sage Tea and Sulphur
Turns Gray, Faded
Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

FOUR MARRIAGE

Marlene A. Phillips of Steubenville and Miss Garnet Spires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Spires of East Liverpool, were granted a marriage license. They are to be married by Rev. Brown.

KATIE M. STEARNS SEEKS DIVORCE

Katie M. Stearns, through her counsel, P. V. Mackall, of East Liverpool, has filed an action for divorce against her husband, William B. Stearns, of 330 Cadmus street, East Liverpool.

The couple were married at Lisbon January 29, 1917. Mrs. Stearns in her petition declares she has been compelled to support herself since the time of her marriage. The petition also relates that the plaintiff has invested $360 of her own funds in an automobile now in the possession of the defendant.

A decree ordering a partition of real estate as prayed for in the petition has been handed down in common pleas court in the case of Jane Oliver against William and John Oliver. The court has appointed S. L. Smith, R. M. Patterson and William Morrow as commissioners in this case.

Granted Leave To File.

In the alimony action pending in common pleas court by Elizabeth Williams against her husband, Andrew J. Williams, the court has granted the plaintiff leave to file an amended petition. This action has been pending in common pleas since July 28 last.

Woman Given Divorce.

On the grounds of extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty a decree of divorce has been granted by Judge W. F. Lones to Florence Helen Flowers from her husband, Wilfred G. Flowers.

The custody of minor children has been awarded Mrs. Flowers. The defendant has been ordered by the court to pay his former wife $10 per week for the support of the children.

East Liverpool-Wellsville Elevens Ready For Grid Battle

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS AWAIT GRID WHISTLE

Hallowed by a school tradition fully as sacred to its partisans as that enshrouding any major collegiate gridiron combat between Yale-Harvard, Army-Navy, or other famous rivals versed to the point of expertise in the art of legalized assault and battery, enduring as a Kentucky mountaineers' feud, colorful as Solomon's wardrobe, imbued with a rivalry as unrelenting as an installment collector, the district's yearly football classic, bringing together East Liverpool and Wellsville high school elevens, which was wound up today in the usual pre-game skein of conjectural discussion, will be unraveled tomorrow afternoon at Nicholson Field, Wellsville.

If weather conditions are propitious, the battle should attract a crowd of at least 8,000.

And with Nicholson Field reported to be in first class condition, the game should be decided on its merits. Captain Frank Kirkham, East Liverpool's plumping fullback, and Captain Eddie Irons, filling the same role for Wellsville, can dig in to hurl their weight in bone crushing drives at the opposition forward walls, and the "greyhounds" of the two squads, English of the Blue and Calhoun of the Orange, will find footing for the brilliant flank attacks that have thrilled their respective followers so many times before this season.

But this selfsame quartet will be marked men. And in a battle as heated, so fraught with tenseness as this is bound to be, some other unsung hero may rise to the heights. It may be anyone.

But a few brief years ago, "Bucky" Mann, Orange halfback, returned a punt half the distance of the field to beat the Blue. The scoring play was as totally unexpected as it was brilliant.

Last year little Tommy Pusey grabbed a forward pass to score the first of a pair of touchdowns that beat the Orange in a burst of sensationalism.

And, by the way, only three members of the East Liverpool squad that triumphed over Wellsville last year at Patterson Field will await the blast of the referee's whistle tomorrow afternoon at Wellsville—Mackall, English, and Smith.

On the opposition lineup, however, will be found six of the 1926 veterans who will be fighting with the memory of that 12-6 defeat in their minds—Deuvall, Snowden, Grindle, Calhoun, Eschbacher and Irons.

But what has gone before in this particular series, which dates back to 1904 when the two schools began their skull whacking and leg twisting jamboree, means not a thing.

Today is always the day to these two teams. Records mean little, if anything, as a basis for determining the comparative strength of these arch enemies for a Thanksgiving day game.

But comparisons of football teams, like murder, will out. In this particu-

Like It Rough in Western Football

By Davis J. Walsh.

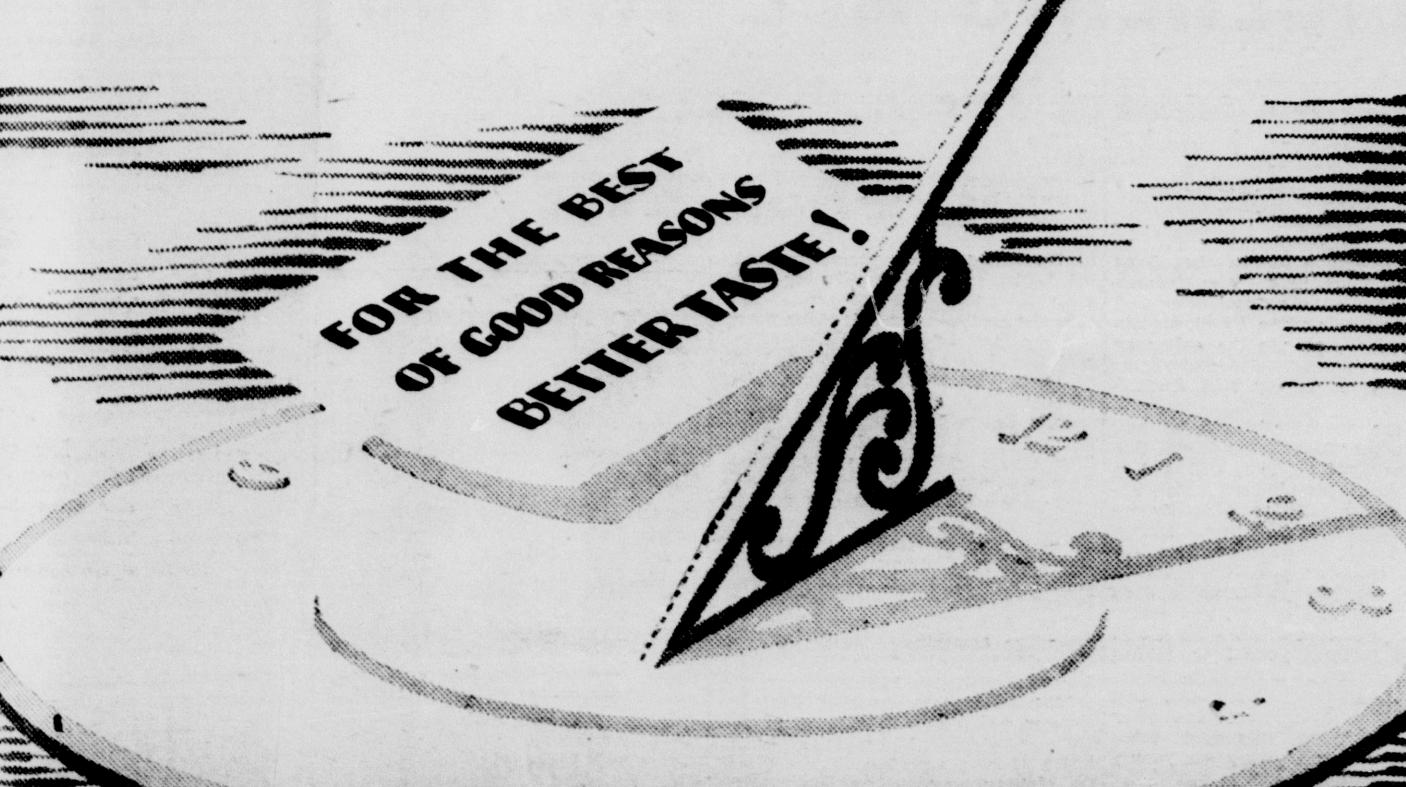

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Perhaps because he was young and innocent and full of illusion, some of which really may have been pre-war, the writer made one of those mistakes which only time and experience can condone. He permitted himself to be led into tacit acceptance of the theory that eastern football constituted a more virile, man-made game than that which prevailed in the middle west, an error wholly understandable in view of the fact that the section in question had begun to believe that maybe it was a little more courteous than the book required.

When a play was finished, there was likely to be twenty-two men on the ground, not a half dozen who might be immediately concerned. I have seen many eastern games in which the standees were in the vast majority and apparently planned to remain so for the afternoon.

If they played such a game as Illinois and Ohio State took as a matter of course, the penalties would be numerous because few eastern teams of my acquaintance can become at all rugged in their attentions to an opponent without getting rather personal about it. This usually leads to rough play on both sides and, therefore, is taboo except in college circles where the parlor never heard of a living room.

HAPPINESS.

Once a wise man said: "Happiness grows at our own firesides, and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens." If you do not find happiness in your home it is, perhaps, because you have not planted the seeds of happiness there. Or, having planted them, you have not stayed around to watch them grow.

DIVIDENDS.

Speaking of happiness, it is a dividend for which an investment must be made.

TROUBLES.

Looking over an old newspaper clipping one finds that a famous French fortune teller predicted dire disasters for the year 1924. The year 1924 has gone by and who can remember any unusual troubles? It is like other years—the years that have gone and the years to come. There are troubles in all years—griefs, disasters, joys and sorrows. The years average up. Bitter with the sweet. And somehow or other the children of men adjust themselves to their circumstances and struggle along. There isn't much to worry about. What folks have stood, others folks can stand. It's not what you get, but how you take it. That's the main thing.

The treaties of Locarno will not stop war. It would be better to begin by re-writing school histories and putting war in the right light and shadow before the eyes of youth. The present generation loves war. Is it not possible to raise up a generation which will hate war?

CREATING DISCONTENT.

Karl Bickel, a newspaper man, says: "It is advertising that has brought the British workman to a determination to improve his scale of living; it is advertising that breed in his mind a disgust for unsanitary quarters, for the dull, hard, desperately colorless, dreary life that has been his lot."

When advertising creates a discontent with the insufficiencies of life, it has stimulated to better things and it has performed a great service.
